

The Butterfly Tail goldfish is named for its tail, which looks like butterfly wings. Its wide, flowing tail spreads gracefully and really stands out. The black-and-white variety is called "Panda," while the red-and-black one is sometimes known as the "Lesser Panda."

Butterfly Tail

The Comet goldfish usually has a red and white body, but you can also find other colors like solid black or yellowish tones. In the Yatomi Folk History Museum, a "Favorite Goldfish Poll" was held three times, and the "Yellow Comet" won first place all three times, proving its immense popularity.

Comet

In 2020, a special goldfish was developed in Yatomi City by crossing the Sakura Nishiki and the Celestial Eye goldfish. Its biggest feature is its very large, striking eyes! If you're looking for a goldfish that really stands out and brings happiness, this could be the perfect one for you. Why not welcome one into your home?

Sakura Celestial Eye

Yatomi Goldfish Gallery

Bubble-eye

The Bubble Eye goldfish has large, clear sacs under its eyes that look like bubbles. They sway gently as the fish swims, like tiny water balloons. If you love cute and unique fish, this one will surely catch your eye!

Red-cap Oranda

The Red-cap Oranda ("Tanchu") goldfish has a white body with a bright red bump on its head, just like the famous Tanchu crane, a symbol of good luck in Japan. The size and shape of the bump are different on each fish.

Oranda

The Oranda goldfish originated in China, but long ago people called it "Oranda" (Holland/the Netherlands) because it looked rare and exotic. Its round, fleshy head bump is a remarkable feature. This bump grows and changes over time, so be sure to watch how it develops.

Ryukin

The Ryukin goldfish is a beloved and timeless breed admired by many. Its round, plump body and long, flowing fins give it a graceful and distinctive appearance. With its captivating looks and calm temperament, the Ryukin has become a cherished part of Japanese culture.

The Charm of Buncho

Bun-chan

Chief Hospitality Staff Member

Oh! Look at this cute little bird—pure white and so charming! This is Bun-chan, the friendly buncho (Java sparrow) of the Yatomi Folk History Museum. She loves to perch on your hand, and everyone who meets her falls in love right away!

Sakura

Assistant Hospitality Staff Member

Meet Sakura, Yatomi's gentle buncho! Sakura loves fresh pea shoots and works hard every day. He has a kind heart and a calm, cute look that everyone loves. His soft, beautiful voice sounds like that of a true Japanese songbird. Come to Yatomi and fall in love with Sakura's charm! ♡

History of Buncho in Yatomi

Yatomi's love for buncho (Java sparrow) began in the late Edo period, when a woman named Yae brought one to the Matahachi area upon getting married. In the Meiji era, a miracle happened — a pure white buncho was born! Careful breeding made the "Haku-buncho (white buncho)" famous, and Yatomi became Japan's buncho capital, once holding 80% of the national market. Today, fewer people breed buncho, but Yatomi keeps their charm alive. At the City Museum, "Bun-chan," the white buncho, and "Sakura," buncho, warmly welcome visitors... and no, they don't charge an entrance fee — just a smile!

白文鳥

Yatomi Goldfish

Yatomi is Japan's goldfish capital, known for having one of the largest productions and widest varieties of goldfish in the country. The city's song even celebrates these shimmering fish! The story began long ago, in the Edo period, when a goldfish trader stopped at a river port in Yatomi and gently released goldfish into a pond so they could rest. This simple act sparked a golden tradition. Despite many challenges, goldfish farming in Yatomi grew and was successful. In 1994, Yatomi goldfish even traveled to space to help scientists study the causes of motion sickness! The amazing journey of goldfish continues today as Yatomi goldfish are cherished around the world.

金魚

弥富

About Yatomi

Yatomi, a coastal city on reclaimed land in western Aichi, began in the Edo period, when people reclaimed land from the sea to grow rice. Surrounded by water, the city suffered from major floods several times over the years until a river diversion in the Meiji era finally brought safety. After World War II, the shopping street around Yatomi Station became so lively that people nicknamed it "Yatomi Ginza," after Tokyo's famous shopping street. Discover how the people of Yatomi turned a history of flooding into a way of life with water.

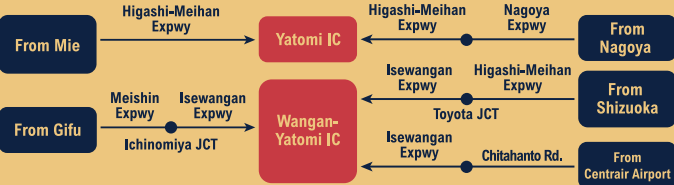

Aichi Gakuin University
×
Nagoya Zokei University

Access by Train

Access by Car

Published by
Yatomi City and Yatomi City Tourism Association
347 Minamihonden, Maegasu-cho,
Yatomi, Aichi 498-0017
Phone: +81-567-65-1106
Fax: +81-567-65-4355
Website: <https://yatomi-kanko.jp/>
In cooperation with
Aichi Gakuin University and Nagoya Zokei University

Website

YATOMI CITY & YATOMI CITY TOURISM ASSOCIATION

Welcome to YATOMI

GOLD FISH and BUNCHO MAP

Discover Yatomi's charm through this colorful guide map!
Learn about the history and varieties of Yatomi's goldfish and buncho (Java sparrows), and explore spots and facilities connected to them.
More than just a guide, it is enjoyable to read, visually appealing, and the perfect companion for your journey.
Step into Yatomi's living traditions and enjoy truly special moments.

Goldfish & Buncho Sweets

7 Ohashiya
Japanese Sweets Shop
The "Yatomi Kingyo (goldfish) Monaka" is a charming treat! This cute sweet comes in red bean or matcha flavor. The crisp shell and gentle sweetness make it light and pleasant to eat. The filling is added by hand when you order—watch and enjoy the skillful work, a part of traditional wagashi culture.

13-3 Nakaroku, Uguiura-cho, Yatomi, Aichi 498-0028

8 Komugi Kobo Akira Pan
Artisan Bakery
Try the adorable "Buncho Bread"! Created in collaboration with local high school students, this lovely, fluffy treat looks just like a buncho. The head and body have different cream flavors. It's not only tasty, but also perfect for photos—almost too cute to eat!

48-1 Nishimaeshinden, Uguiura-cho, Yatomi, Aichi 498-0026

9 Kazenoko Okashi Kobo
Sweets Shop
Discover the delightful "Kinchan Sablé"! These goldfish-shaped butter cookies come in four flavors: plain, strawberry, cocoa, and matcha. Crunchy and attractive, they're fun to collect and make great souvenirs. Why not try them all and find your favorite?

126-2 Kamakura-cho, Yatomi, Aichi 498-0007

10 Asahiken
Japanese Sweets Shop
11 Kogetsudo
Sweets Shop
12 Shogetsudo
Japanese Sweets Shop
13 Manjuen-ruguran
Sweets Shop
This shop offers a variety of tempting sweets, including red bean and matcha-flavored "Kingyo (goldfish) Monaka," "Kingyo Manju" (a soft bun with sweet filling), the refreshing and creamy "Kingyo Monaka Ice Cream" that's perfect for summer, and the adorable "Yatomi Flower Sablé." Each sweet carries the spirit of Yatomi — be sure to taste them!

10 : 166-1 Kamiroku, Uguiura-cho, Yatomi, Aichi
11 : 585-8 Yakedashinden, Ninoue-cho, Yatomi, Aichi
12 : 530 Minamihonden, Maegasu-cho, Yatomi, Aichi
13 : 1-30 Kanzaki, Yatomi, Aichi

1 Yatomi Tower

Located right in front of Kintetsu Yatomi Station, the Yatomi Tower is an 8.13-meter-tall landmark named after the city. The number "813" comes from the Japanese readings of 8 (ya), 10 (to), and 3 (mi). The tower features goldfish and buncho designs, and is illuminated in winter.

Nishimaeshinden, Uguiura-cho, Yatomi, Aichi 498-0026

2 White Buncho Phone Booth

Check out this rare phone booth, topped with a giant statue of a buncho. If you love buncho, this is a must-see spot. Step inside and try calling a friend from this truly unique booth!

Higashimaeshinden, Uguiura-cho, Yatomi, Aichi 498-0021

3 YaToMi AQUA

Yatomi goldfish aquarium

Come and see Yatomi's famous goldfish. There are many different kinds to enjoy. As well as enjoying the displays, you can try traditional Japanese goldfish scooping game. Find your favorite among these cute little swimmers!

347 Minamihonden, Maegasu-cho, Yatomi, Aichi 498-0017

Yatomi Folk History Museum

Come interact with our Buncho! Bun-chan, the white one, will gently perch on your hand. This special spot lets you see Yatomi's unique charm, where both goldfish and these beloved birds are raised with great care.

347 Minamihonden, Maegasu-cho, Yatomi, Aichi 498-0017

Goldfish Shop

This is a retail shop specializing in ornamental goldfish.

1 Maruyu Fish Farm

90 Higashimaeshinden, Uguiura-cho, Yatomi, Aichi 498-0021

2 Yatomi Fish

148 Kurumashinden, Uguiura-cho, Yatomi, Aichi 498-0021

3 Maruteru Goldfish Farm

22-1 Kurumashinden, Uguiura-cho, Yatomi, Aichi 498-0021

4 Marutomi Nishikigoi Center

10-2 Junikami, Zentashinden-cho, Aisai, Aichi 496-0924

5 Marutoshi Fish Farm

1-52-5 Kitsuneji, Yatomi, Aichi 498-0051

6 Suzuki Goldfish Shop

1-203 Takenogo, Tobishima, Aichi 490-1436

7 Marubun Ornamental Fish Farm

4-4-184 Takenogo, Tobishima, Aichi 490-1436

Yatomi Goldfish Retail Shop

4 Goldfish Auction

Yatomi has two goldfish markets, where you can watch live auctions of a variety of goldfish breeds. The highlight is the fast-paced bidding: buyers toss numbered tags into a "kanko," a box with a net holding the fish, and the fish are sold in an instant. It's a unique and exciting scene — why not come and experience it up close?

Venues

- Yatomi Goldfish Wholesale Market
697-103 Ekichi, Maegasu-cho, Yatomi, Aichi
- Nihon Goldfish Wholesale Market
256-1 Higashikansuke, Maegasu-cho, Yatomi, Aichi

Visitor Guidelines

- Advance booking required (by phone, 2 weeks prior).
Yatomi Folk History Museum
Phone : +81-567-65-4355
- Talking is strictly prohibited during the auction.
- Parking is limited and prioritized for dealers.

5 White Buncho Birthplace Monument

Come visit the monument marking the birthplace of the white buncho! It's just a 5-minute walk from Sakogi Station. Hidden in a quiet corner of a local shrine, it's a peaceful spot many locals don't even know about. While you're there, why not take a moment to pay your respects?

2-115-3 Matahachi, Yatomi, Aichi 498-0004

6 Kainan Kodomonokuni

A park for children and families

This exciting park is full of family-friendly fun! Let's ride go-karts and water bikes. There are big playgrounds and lots of fun things to do. Come meet our mascot, Midopon, and enjoy a full day of adventure!

1238 Nitanda, Toriganji-cho, Yatomi, Aichi 490-1403